We offer the latest technology in printing of Woven Polypropylene Bags (WPP Bags). This process is a bit different from the Flexographic Printing in which the desired images/words were being transferred directly onto the WPP rolls, bags & fabrics where as in this process a thin film of BOPP is passed through Gravure process to obtain the sharp and accurate image and then laminated onto the WPP Bags. It can be produced in Glossy and Matt finishes amongst which mostly demanded is Glossy finish. We produces the fabrics in a tubular form where the film is laminated to the fabric on both sides & single side according to customers requirements. Our Design & Manufacturing service team has in depth knowledge and expertise with this product used for grains, pulses, corn, feeds to name a few and is able to advise the best ways to maximize the packaging effect.
