WAGYU JAPANESE BEEF

Japanese Wagyu Exports Guarantee Superior Quality Beef

In Japan, Wagyu carcasses are objectively assessed for quality according to a standardized grading system established by the Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries. A certified grader from the Japan Meat Grading Association evaluates the dressed carcasses. Before entering the marketplace, Wagyu across Japan is assessed using the same objective criteria, regardless of where or when the animal was bred or slaughtered. This ensures that only Wagyu of superior quality is exported from Japan to customers abroad.

RECOMMEND CUTS!

1. The Sirloin, similar to the fillet, is considered a high-quality cut and is located behind the rib loin. Its meat is finely textured and tender. It holds its shape well, and it is possible to obtain identically sized cuts, making it ideal for steak.

2. The Ribloin (Ribeye) is the loin located next to the chuck on the dorsal side of the rib area. The meat is thick and finely textured. It is often well-marbled, giving it a full-bodied flavor.
